

Management Department Ranked 17th Nationally for Research Productivity

(2/2/2009) - The Management Department at the UConn School of Business was recently ranked 17th in research productivity compared to 170 other AAU and non-AAU universities. This ranking is tied with other prominent institutions such as New York University, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Carnegie Mellon University, and George Mason University. This ranking places the department in the top 10% of programs reviewed.

This performance tally is conducted annually by the University of Florida and Texas A&M. Although UConn is not an AAU member, the 2009 rankings were expanded to include institutions beyond AAU. This is the first time UConn was able to post a ranking.

The journals tallied included the following: Academy of Management Journal, Academy of Management Review, Administrative Science Quarterly, Journal of Applied Psychology, Organization Science, Organizational Behavior and Human Decision Processes, Personnel Psychology and Strategic Management Journal.

You may view the full rankings at <http://mays.tamu.edu/depts/mgmt/researchproductivity/index.htm>.